

Independent Care Act Advocacy (ICAA) Referral Form

Advocacy and the duty to involve

Local authorities must involve people in decisions made about them and their care and support. No matter how complex a person's needs, local authorities are required to help people express their wishes and feelings, support them in weighing up their options, and assist them in making their own decisions.

When does the advocacy duty apply?

The advocacy duty will apply from the point of first contact with the My Life Legacy and at subsequent stage of the assessment, planning, care review, safeguarding enquiry or safeguarding review. If it appears to the authority that a person or their carer has care and support needs, then a judgement must be made as to whether that person has substantial difficulty in being involved the above processes. If they do, and there is not an appropriate individual to support them, an independent advocate must be appointed to represent the person, essentially for the purpose of enabling and ensuring their full participation in decisions regarding their care, support or safeguarding.
